Maryculter House

One of Scotland's most historic hotels

Only 15 minutes from Aberdeen International Airport, Maryculter House is ideally positioned for golfers to experience a range of the top golf courses in the north east of Scotland, whether it be the signature and challenging links courses of Cruden Bay, Royal Aberdeen and Murcar, or the inland courses on Royal Deeside, such as Peterculter, Banchory, Aboyne and Ballater.

Our stunning hotel, which dates back to the 13th century, is filled with original period detail and our breath-taking location on the banks of the River Dee offers the perfect base, wherever your tee-time.

Paul Lawrie OBE

1999 Open Champion and
Ryder Cup player 1999 and 2012

Golf has been good to me over a career spanning 30 plus years (and counting). Last year I reached a milestone. I won the Scottish Senior Open at Craigiellaw in my 'rookie' season as a senior. It came 20 years after my Open triumph at Carnoustie. Now at the beginning of a new decade, I look back on a career that began for me playing some of the best golf courses that Aberdeen and Aberdeenshire have to offer.

This is prime golfing country with great links courses such as Royal Aberdeen, Murcar Links, Cruden Bay, Fraserburgh and Trump International. Away from the coast there are fabulous parkland courses to be found at Newmachar, Aboyne, Banchory, Ballater and Braemar. Another favourite is Duff House Royal in Banff, the venue for the 2020 Scottish Senior Men's Amateur Open Championship.

A number of our golf courses have staged major tournaments over the years. Royal Aberdeen held the Senior British Open, ASI Scottish Open, Walker Cup and Amateur Championship. Murcar Links was the venue for my first Match Play event on the European Tour, while it is probably only a matter of time before Trump International hosts a top-class tournament.

I've spent my life travelling the world, playing some of the very best golf courses on tour. But Aberdeen is my home and I always look forward to returning. It has so much to offer beyond golf with some of the most stunning scenery you'll find in Scotland, not to mention fine foods, like our world-renowned Aberdeen Angus steak and fresh seafood.

We have a host of malt whisky distilleries, gin distilleries and craft beer breweries which add a whole new meaning to the nineteenth hole!

I cannot recommend a golf break in the North-east of Scotland highly enough. We would be delighted to share what we are able to enjoy in this part of Scotland with you.

Yours Aye, Paul

Golf in Aberdeenshire Where will you play?

Cruden Bay

The North-east of Scotland offers some of the finest golf in Scotland. Over 100,000 golfers visit Aberdeenshire every year to play its many famous links courses and inspiring parkland and tree-lined fairways.

Visitors from all over the world are attracted to gems such as Murcar Links, chosen to host the 2020 Scottish Men's Amateur Championship.

This classic links has gained international recognition as a European Tour venue, having hosted the Saltire Paul Lawrie Match Play in 2015 and the R&A 123rd Amateur Championship qualifying rounds in 2018.

Its near neighbour Royal Aberdeen is the sixth oldest club in the world. Royal Aberdeen is one of Scotland's top links courses, testing some of the very best in the game, having held the 43rd Walker Cup in 2011, the Scottish Open in 2014 and the Amateur Championship in 2018. European tour player and former U.S. amateur champion, Aberdeen's Richie Ramsay is an honorary member of the club.

These two championship courses are the beginning of a stretch of links golf that leave golfers gasping for more. And what treats await with the renowned Trump International Links and Cruden Bay, two stunning golf courses that are among the best, not just in Scotland but anywhere in the world.

Royal Aberdeen

Trump International

Between them lies Newburgh-on-Ythan founded in 1888 and today a challenging par 72 championship course overlooking the North Sea and Sands of Forvie National Nature Reserve.

Head north along the coast to Peterhead and continue your golfing education at the 18th oldest club in the world. Set among the dunes, this is seaside golf at its best with tricky shots that require pinpoint accuracy.

On to Fraserburgh, established in 1777 and the seventh oldest golf course in the world. This traditional links takes you back in time with its undulating fairways and strategically placed bunkers that lie in wait. Another challenge where course management will triumph over brute force.

From great links golf to a change in scenery, Aberdeenshire is blessed with some superb parkland courses. The settings are stunning, and the golfing experience is rich and rewarding.

Duff House Royal is to host the Scottish Senior Men's Open 17-19 June 2020, an international event attracting players from all over the world.

Remodelled by the legendary Dr Alister MacKenzie, architect of Augusta National, Duff House Royal should prove a worthy venue for this prestigious tournament with its contoured two-tier greens and beautifully manicured fairways.

Duff House Royal

Banchory

Hawkshill, Newmachar

Meldrum House

Elsewhere the Dee Valley of Royal Deeside is home to Aboyne, Banchory, Ballater and Braemar – all popular visitor courses.

What awaits are fantastic fairways, true rolling greens and magnificent views to inspire golfers of all abilities. Braemar is located in the heart of the Cairngorms National Park and is the highest 18-hole golf course in Great Britain.

Ballater is a wonderful golf course. Set in one of the most beautiful parts of Upper Deeside, Ballater lies within a circle of hills and several holes run alongside the River Dee. The opening six holes are a real test with two difficult par threes that can make or break your round.

Not far from the city of Aberdeen lies Newmachar Hawkshill, a modern but mature golf course with stately pines and birch trees lining many of its fairways. Designed by Peter Aliss and legendary architect Dave Thomas, be aware of water hazards and well-formed bunkers that narrow the target and creates doubt in the mind of the golfer. Newmachar has a second eighteen, Swailend, another superb Dave Thomas design, more forgiving but still a great test of golf.

Meldrum House is another superb parkland course considered to be one of the finest in Scotland. Ranked in Golf World's top 100 courses, golfers will enjoy the USGA-constructed greens, cross-cut fairways and a choice of five tee positions.

There are 55 golf courses to play in Aberdeenshire. These are some of the oldest, best and challenging courses, but undoubtedly the most rewarding. Where will you play?

Duff House Royal to host Scottish Senior Open Championship

Duff House Royal is set to welcome the Scottish Senior Men's Open to its championship course on 17-19 June, in what promises to be a sensational few days of golf.

This three-day stroke-play event is played over 54-holes with a cut after the first 36. The top 60 progress to the final round with prizes presented to the top three golfers and leading over 65-year old.

Duff House Royal Golf Club in the historic town of Banff was designed by Archie Simpson (who laid out Royal Aberdeen's Balgownie). The course was formally opened in 1909 with an inaugural match played between two of the great golfing "triumvirate" - J.H. Taylor (then Open Champion) and James Braid. Taylor triumphed with a score of 75, three shots ahead of his great rival.

The course was later re-designed by Dr Alister MacKenzie in 1923 who went on to design Augusta National. He first saw the potential for the course from the Hill of Doune and wrote in his letter to the club: "I have rarely come across a piece of golfing ground which lends itself so well to the construction of an attractive course."

Today that attraction is there for all to see. This beautiful course is relatively flat, but this makes it no less a challenge with the River Deveron coming in to play on a number of holes. Strategically placed bunkers are ready to catch a wayward shot and then there's the large MacKenzie two-tiered greens where pace and touch will make or break a score.

If that's not enough to inspire, the majestic Duff House is situated in the middle of the course and is managed by Historic Scotland. It's considered to be one of the country's grandest classical country houses from the 18th century.

Duff House Royal has always been a popular course and is listed in both Golf World and Golfer Scotland's Top 100 course guides. Include Duff House Royal as part of your golfing itinerary and discover why it has been chosen to host this year's Scottish Senior Men's Open Championship.

Did you know?

Duff House Royal Golf Club

The club is the only royal golf club where the royal title is used as a suffix and not a prefix. It is believed the reason for the royal title being a suffix to Duff House was a tribute to Louise, third child and eldest daughter of King Edward VII and Alexandra of Denmark, who was known as the Princess Royal, not the Royal Princess.

The Town of Banff

Banff is a royal and ancient burgh. Its history stretches back to the tenth century. As the former county town of Banffshire, it received its charter as a royal burgh from Robert II, King of Scots, in 1372. The author Neil Paterson described it as a miniature Edinburgh; an old town with stately streets intersected by breakneck lanes with spires and historical monuments and dignified public buildings; a gracious town with unexpected vistas framed between gables and chimney pots.

Callum Bruce

Duff House Royal member Callum Bruce is a two time NJCAA Jack Nicklaus Player of the year (2018, 2019) Scottish International and played in a PGA Tour event last year.

STAY WITH US BETWEEN ROUNDS

An elegant hotel with the promise of fine dining and exceptional service, The Banff Springs Hotel with 36 bedrooms is the ideal place to recharge your batteries before the next challenge on your golf tour.

Standing above the golden sands of the Moray Firth, the hotel is just a short drive from Duff House Royal and Royal Tarlair, while local distilleries and other golfing gems await along the coast and inland.

HOTEL SPA AND RESTAURANT

2020

Dear golfer,

As a fellow golfer of over 50 years and having been a member of Royal Aberdeen for over 45 years, Cruden Bay for over 50 years as well as several other clubs, I would be delighted to welcome you to my hotel in Aberdeen.

Among our first-class facilities we are proud to invite you to our wonderful golfing memorabilia/pool room situated in the hotel. We also boast a gym and a spa which offers a range of massages and our hydrotherapy bath for the weary golfer.

Along our corridors we have over 60 Graeme Baxter artist proofs, featuring some of the world's best golf courses, we are most definitely a hotel for golfers. We even have a slick artificial putting green at the front of the hotel for pre-dinner drinks or pre-dinner practice.

For Scottish beef (aged a minimum of 35 days) cut to suit, any weight, along with fish, lobster and seafood, you need go no further than the Conservatory Restaurant. Wine connoisseurs will enjoy our extensive list of over 400 choice wines from around the world, including a page dedicated to wines produced by golfers for golfers, as well as over 100 single malt whiskies.

We have drying facilities for your golf gear, and a chauffeur driven limousine service is available for hire at short notice, if you would like to experience some of Scotland's spectacular scenery, history and distilleries.

The Marcliffe Hotel and Spa was the host hotel for the 2011 Walker Cup, and we accommodated the teams for the British Senior Open in 2005, and more recently in 2014 for the Scottish Open at Royal Aberdeen. Some of the world's best players including Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Gary Player, Ian Poulter, Miguel Ángel Jiménez, Phil Mickelson, Ricky Fowler and Jordan Speith have enjoyed their stay at our family-run hotel.

We hope to see you soon at the Marcliffe, and if I have one piece of advice for you when tackling the great links courses of the North-east, it would have to be "keep it slow and low"!

Best wishes

Plenty of room to relax after those long drives.

In Aberdeenshire you'll find more golf courses than you can shake an eight iron at. Over forty of them are within forty minutes drive from Aberdeen city centre and our two hotels.

What makes Skene House different is we don't just give you a room, we give you a suite or apartment, for one night or longer, each with a living room and kitchen.

Our suites and apartments come with one, two and three bedrooms, in all shapes and sizes (just like golf parties).

And our team are always on hand to lend a hand with everything from restaurant bookings to transfers. Our Breakfast Restaurants serve hearty breakfasts that will set you up for tee time.

Extraordinary when you think for the price of an ordinary hotel room you get enough room to swing a putter.

Tee Time

with
Laura Murray

Finishing an impressive fourth in the 2019 LET Access Series, Aberdeenshire-born Laura Murray has earned her place on the 2020 Ladies' European Tour.

With the ladies' game growing in popularity, the 31-year-old has been working hard on her game and now feels well equipped for the challenge of competing on the elite European tour.

Q When did you first play golf?

A I began lessons at the age of nine in Alford and was able to play at Alford Golf Club on the way home from school. From the age of eleven my grandfather took me to Aboyne. I've always loved the course layout and the views are incredible - particularly from the 12th. Aboyne and Alford are great courses and I still enjoying playing them today.

Q What's the strongest part of your game?

A I am a long-hitter. People don't expect that of me, but I am quite tall at 5' 8" and I am able to utilise my power on the shorter LET Access courses. Of course it's not all about length and I spend endless hours practising my short game at my home club, Kippie Lodge.

Q You last played on the full Ladies' European Tour in 2015 - what will be different in 2020?

A I am physically and mentally in a much better place now after the year I've had on the LET Access Tour, and I feel I have the all-round game to compete on any course. On top of that I know the other girls well and have played most of the courses before so it's useful to be familiar with the layout and the greens.

Q How often do you get to play at Kippie Lodge?

A Kippie Lodge has supported me for a number of years now, and my coach Keil Beveridge is the pro there. It means I can practise to my heart's content when I am in the North-east. The course is in great condition so it's the ideal place to prepare for tournaments.

Q How has the popularity of the 2019 Solheim Cup affected ladies' golf?

A It was great to see the crowds and the coverage which proved that ladies' golf can be just as entertaining as the men's game. The finish was just incredible and hopefully that interest will help address some of the disparity in terms of prize money and sponsorship.

Q Who would you most like to play?

A Apart from Tiger Woods of course, and the mighty Suzann Pettersen, I would also love to play with Anne van Dam again. We played together on the LET Access Series and qualified at the same time for LET Tour in 2015. She now plays on both the LPGA Tour and LET Tour. It would be great to play together again. Anne drives the ball a long way so it would be quite a show!

Q What is your plan for 2020?

A To keep my card! The better placed I am, the more invitations I'll receive to play in the top events so my aim is to finish as high as I can, certainly top 50 and hopefully top 21.

Banchory

Royal Deeside

A golfer's delight

If you're planning a golf break in Royal Deeside, there's plenty to look forward to. Not only will you play some great golf courses, but you'll be able to bask in the breathtaking scenery that makes Royal Deeside such a popular destination. So popular, that the Royal Family has a long association with the area - Balmoral Castle, between Ballater and Braemar being the official summer residence of the Queen.

The Royal Deeside Golf Classic

At the end of July, the Royal Deeside Golf Classic takes in four of the area's best courses: Aboyne, Ballater, Banchory and Braemar. This is a 72-hole Stableford with daily prizes and an overall prize for the week. The Royal Deeside Golf Classic is open to ladies and gents.

It's an unmissable event in the golf calendar and attracts visitors from far and wide. If you would like to play The Royal Deeside Golf Classic, contact any one of the four participating clubs for an entry form. The club secretaries will be delighted to assist you with finding comfortable accommodation whatever your budget, from 4-star hotels to family-run bed and breakfasts.

The tournament tees off at Aboyne before moving to Ballater on day two. The third round is played over Braemar, the highest 18-hole golf course in the country, while the final round is at Banchory.

A free day has been included to allow you to visit the many places of interest and scenic beauty which abound on Royal Deeside or, alternatively, you could use your rest day to play another popular Deeside course, Peterculter on the banks of the River Dee and get your game ready for the final two rounds at Ballater and Banchory.

Entry Fee: £130.

Royal Deeside Golf Ticket

But don't despair if you can't make the Classic because there are all-year round golf tickets to play Aboyne, Ballater, Banchory, Braemar and Peterculter, taking in the splendours of the River Dee, Deeside's stunning valleys and the Cairngorms.

Summer Golf (1 April - 31 October)

A 3-day visitor ticket costs just £90.

A 5-day visitor ticket costs only £150.

Simply take the ticket to each of the clubs which you visit and pay the reduced green fees to that club for your round of golf on the day (£30/round).

Ancient Aberdeenshire

Aberdeenshire's 263 castles are steeped in history. With more castles per acre than anywhere else in the UK, there are plenty of dramatic homes and fortifications for you to visit on a rest day.

Relive the lives of kings and queens or be enthralled by breathtaking Hollywood backdrops, with this small selection of Aberdeenshire's historical castles.

Fyvie Castle
13th century fairy tale castle
Frequented by Robert the Bruce, and home to Charles I
18th century walled garden and wild-life-filled loch, shop and tearoom

Castle Fraser
Built in 16th century
One of the largest tower houses in Scotland
The family home was the backdrop for The Queen (2006) starring Helen Mirren
300 acres of grounds and woodland, shop and tearoom

Slains Castle
Built 16th century
Dramatic ruin situated on a precarious coastal edge
Striking background for Count Dracula (1897) and The Crown (2016)

Drum Castle
Built in the 13th century, part of the castle is amongst the oldest in Scotland
The castle and its grounds were granted to William de Irlwyn in 1325 by Robert the Bruce
Woodlands with 18th century trees, shop and tearoom

Braemar Castle
Built 1628 as a Highland Hunting Lodge
Welcomed Queen Victoria when she attended early Braemar Gatherings
Run today by a community group as a tourist destination

Balmoral Castle
Rebuilt in the 1800s by Prince Albert and Queen Victoria on the site of former 15th century tower house
Balmoral is Queen Elizabeth II's summer family home
Extensive grounds, shop and tearoom

Dunnottar Castle
Built in 15th century on the site of a 5th century Pictish settlement
Stunning Dunnottar has been the setting for many a dramatic movie including Victor Frankenstein and Hamlet
The dramatic cliff top fortress is a must for history lovers and budding photographers

Old Aberdeen, new adventures

Aberdeen and Aberdeenshire are steeped in a rich history. The region's proud links to royalty, education and maritime are most evident in two of Aberdeen's most treasured areas.

Turn back time by navigating Old Aberdeen and Footdee, the city's most fascinating districts to visitors and locals alike.

Old Aberdeen as we know it today grew out of two distinct communities - New Aberdeen and Old Aberdeen. Monks and scholars, traders and travellers settled round Old Aberdeen in the area where 14th century St Machar's Cathedral still stands and where King's College, the forerunner to Aberdeen University, was founded by Bishop Elphinstone in 1495.

Today, quaint Old Aberdeen, where cobbled roads run through the heart of the area, is one of Aberdeen's favourite hidden gems. Home to the University of Aberdeen and more than 14,000 students from around the world, Old Aberdeen is a vibrant community waiting to be discovered.

Step back in time as you visit the historic sites on campus. Don't forget to explore neighbouring Seaton Park and walk through the characteristic Chanonry, home to some of the most stunning buildings in the city.

Make some time to also appreciate the old perfectly blended with the new as you admire the architecturally distinctive, and award-winning, Sir Duncan Rice Library.

Footdee: vibrant village by the sea

Footdee - or Fittie as it is known by locals - is one of the most unique communities in the UK, huddled at the end of a long, pleasant stroll along the historic Aberdeen beach front.

The charming mid-19th century former fishing community was designed by John Smith, the architect responsible for Balmoral Castle. The cottages all face inwards in squares with their backs to the ocean to protect them and their inhabitants from the sea.

Today, Footdee is still a residential area and is home to a vibrant creative quarter. As well as being a residential community, Footdee is now home to a number of art studios and plays an important role in the area's North East Open Studios event which takes place every September.

Remember, if you do visit glorious Footdee, to respect the area and the locals that live there.

Walk on the wild side

Lochnagar

Whether you prefer low level walking or getting up into the hills, Aberdeenshire is the perfect place to get your walking boots on and experience some of the world's most iconic scenery.

The Deeside Way

Following the Victorian Old Royal Deeside Railway Line, the Deeside Way is an easy walk, following 41 miles of changing scenery which takes you from the back gardens of Aberdeen city along the beautiful River Dee to Ballater.

Enjoy watching salmon leap or herons perch along the river as well as pretty towns of Drumoak, Banchory and Aboyne.

Bennachie

Lairig Ghru

Scotland's best-known mountain pass is a popular 19-mile trail through some of the wildest land in Scotland.

The Lairig Ghru can be approached from Glen More through the notorious rocky Chalamain Gap and from Aviemore through the Rothiemurchus Forest. Set between the popular and welcoming towns of Aviemore and Braemar, the route cuts through the Cairngorm National Park range with breath-taking views of Ben Macdui.

Lochnagar

Perhaps the most famous of all the munros in Aberdeenshire is the mighty Lochnagar, which is popular with walkers all year round. The striking peak, Lochin y Gair, inspired a poem by Lord Byron, who spent his childhood in Aberdeenshire.

For a low level circular route, head to Loch Muick

which sits below Lochnagar and is a stunning 8-mile walk.

Bennachie

Although not high compared to the nearby Cairngorms, the Bennachie hill range is a local favourite. The scene of leprechaun-inspired folklore, the landscape transforms from forested lower slopes to dramatic hill top cairns.

The circular walk will reward even the less experienced walker with magnificent views and the visitor centre (open April to October) includes interactive exhibits, refreshments and a dedicated wildlife viewing area.

Keep it safe

With fast changing weather conditions, walking in Scotland can be challenging. Check weather forecasts, plan your route, go with friends and wear good walking boots and warm waterproof clothing.

Foodie feasts in Aberdeenshire

Aberdeen and Aberdeenshire's food scene is thriving. With an internationally renowned food and drink larder right on our doorstep, the region hosts a wide selection of independent and award-winning restaurants, not forgetting well-known foodie favourites that draw locals and visitors alike. With eight North-east restaurants featuring in the Michelin Guide, our food and drink offering is impressive.

As well as comfortable and relaxing places to stay, our North-east hotels have some of the most talented and creative chefs who produce culinary excellence time and time again.

The luxurious Chester Hotel has undergone an expansion to include a new bar, named The Gallery. Take a trip to Meldrum House to sample Pineapple, a new dining experience using the freshest local produce or enjoy the splendour of The Clunie Dining Room at the incredible Fife Arms Hotel in Braemar.

Heading out towards Deeside, Maryculter House Hotel offers riverside dining while further north the Kilmarnock Arms Hotel, the Banff Springs Hotel and Buchan Braes bring a little luxury to coastal dining.

If you are looking for something a little different, a few new eateries have opened up in Aberdeen. Smoke & Soul at Six Degrees North on Littlejohn Street is offering wholesome wood-fired food, while Tango Turtle on Belmont Street brings the colourful Caribbean to the granite city.

For smaller bites, cheese fans have been flocking to Melt on Belmont Street, while new pop-up avocado business AVO is bringing hungry workers and tourists into Aberdeen Indoor Market. Or if you are looking for something special, do what the locals do and head for the Moonfish Café in Correction Wynd.

Whatever your appetite or taste, Aberdeenshire is the place to be for high quality, tasty and memorable meals.

Banchory is a highly enjoyable riverside course with hints of both park and heathland in evidence. The club dates from 1905 and the original course was laid out with advice from Archie Simpson.

Fairways pass indigenous pines and birch, heathers and wildflowers as they flow towards small but perfectly formed greens, with the surrounding hills and forests providing a beautiful backdrop.

A short walk from the town's bustling high street, the clubhouse is a social hub and a welcoming, lively place for "après golf." On course and off, Banchory GC delivers a memorable day out.

Cruden Bay creates unique challenges demanding the skills of power, placement and fine judgement of the discerning golfer. This championship course makes a big impression and has attracted golfers from across the world who have been keen to take on the challenge of one of the world's top 100 courses.

It is one of Scotland's hidden gems, where every hole provides a test and its difficult not to completely enjoy a round of golf.

Championship Course Holes: 18 Par: 70 SSS: 71 Length: 6,263 yards (5,727m)

Cullen Links offers seaside golf but an alternative to the nearby classic championship layouts. Location is halfway between Aberdeen and Inverness on the Moray Firth coastline. Three hours on the shortest true links of the world.

Nothing short about the holes themselves. There just happens to be more of the par 3 variety. Fun is the key. The Old Tom Morris architecture of playing golf on sandy turf and between the geological features of the 80ft high red rocks gives a unique golfing experience.

DUFF HOUSE ROYAL

The original course was designed by Archie Simpson and opened in 1909. The course was later re-designed in 1923 by Dr. Alister MacKenzie who later went on to design Augusta National. To this day Duff House Royal still retains the design set out by MacKenzie.

Duff House Royal is a popular parkland course renowned for its beautifully manicured fairways, majestic tree-lines, well positioned bunkers and large MacKenzie two-tiered greens. It overlooks the River Deveron which features as a hazard on a number of holes. Nestling in the middle of the course is Duff House, considered one of the grandest classical country houses built in the 18th century and designed by William Adam.

The course is a fair but challenging par 68 for gents and par 72 for ladies. Visitors are always made to feel extremely welcome.

Inverallochy is short by modern day standards but don't let this lull you into a false sense of security. With six par threes it is a real test of shot-making. Add in the wind and Inverallochy can roar with the best of Aberdeenshire's links courses. There are numerous challenging par fours but each and every hole provides a challenge to golfers of all abilities. Inverallochy dates back to 1888 and this short but demanding course will give you a true sense of traditional links golf that many visitors call a 'hidden gem'.

Holes: 18 Par: 67 SSS: 67 Length: 5,436 yards (4,971m)

INVERURIE

The Royal Burgh of Inverurie nestles in the heart of rural Aberdeenshire. It lives up to its motto: "Urbs in Rure" - Town in the Country.

Murcar Links has undergone alterations over the years, which has stretched the layout to 6516 yards. Originally designed by Archie Simpson and revised by James Braid, it is located on a classic stretch of links land with massive sand dunes, undulating fairways, and is covered in whins and heather with some magnificent views across the North Sea. There can be some wicked bounces off the crumpled fairways and there are burns and the odd blind shot to contend with. The signature hole is considered to be the seventh – a 423 yard par four which is ominously called Serpentine. From a high tee, the drive is over a twisting burn with a ravine on the right and heavy rough on the left with towering dunes everywhere.

NEWBURGH-ON-YTHAN

Newburgh-on-Ythan Golf Club was founded in 1888 on the Udney links and is set against a dramatic backdrop of the Ythan Estuary, the North Sea and the ever-changing dunes of the Forvie National Nature Reserve. It is situated midway between Trump International Links and Cruden Bay Golf Club.

NEWMACHAR

Located in rolling countryside on the outskirts of Aberdeen. Newmachar Golf Club is home to two exceptional 18-hole courses. Both courses were designed by Dave Thomas, with Hawkshill opening in 1990 and Swailend following seven years later.

W: newmachargolfclub.co.uk

Despite its youth, Hawkshill looks and feels more mature than its age suggests, mainly due to the stately pine and birch trees flanking the fairways. With clever bunkering and water hazards coming into play in no fewer than seven of the holes, this is one of the area's toughest tracks.

Swailend is not as mentally challenging as its older brother, but its subtle contours, well positioned bunkers and testing greens present every standard of golfer with a challenge which should not be underestimated.

Although challenging, Newmachar provides two memorable golfing experiences.

Among the dunes and across the Craigewan Links the course is a classic example of Scottish seaside golf at its best - and the toughest! Peterhead Golf Club was established in 1841. The current 18 hole layout "Craigewan Links" began as a 9 hole course in 1892, designed by Willie Park Jnr a dual winner of the Open Championship and was extended to 18 holes in 1908. A second 18 hole course was established in 1923, however today it exists as a nine hole course, appropriately named the "New Course". Take the opportunity to come and play the course and enjoy the warm and friendly atmosphere of the club. Groups and societies welcome. Full catering and bar facilities for visitors. Advanced bookings required for large groups.
